What you should know first

- Taking part is voluntary. You can say no, or stop at any time, with no consequence.
- Your answers are used for research only. No score, rating or financing decision is produced, and your individual answers are never shared with any lender or financial institution.
- Your name and contact details are kept separately from your answers and are only used to manage your participation (for example a reminder or arranging a call).
- Results are only ever reported in combined, anonymised form.

2. What you need

- Your personal invitation link, sent to you by WhatsApp, SMS or email. It starts with research.agribizframework.com/i/.
- A phone, tablet or computer with internet access. No app to install and no account to create.
- About 15–25 minutes somewhere you will not be interrupted. If you prefer, a researcher can go through it with you by phone or WhatsApp.

Your link is personal

The link belongs to your organisation and works for 14 days. Please do not forward it to other organisations. If it has expired or does not work, contact the research team for a new one.

Is this message genuine?

The research team will only send links beginning https://research.agribizframework.com/i/. We will never ask for passwords, bank details or payment. If in doubt, call Happyson Saina on 0773943709.

3. Taking part, step by step

Step 1 — Open your link

Tap the link in the message. The study portal opens in your browser.

Step 2 — Confirm your organisation

The screen asks you to confirm the name of your organisation. If it is correct, tap Yes, that's correct. If it is not your organisation, do not continue — contact the research team using the details in your invitation.

Not the right person?

If none of the roles describes you, choose None of these describe me. You will be thanked and no questions will be asked. It would help us greatly if you could tell the researcher who contacted you who the right senior person is.

Step 4 — Read the participant information

Read the information about the study: who is doing it, what taking part involves, how your information is protected, and your rights. If the research team has published them, a section called How to verify this is a genuine study lets you open their official approval letters. When you are ready, tap Continue to consent. Tap Go back if you need to.

Participant Information

This study is being carried out by Happyson Saina, a doctoral researcher at Chinhoyi University of Technology, supervised by Dr. L. Chikazhe and Dr. J. Kanyepe. It looks at how agribusinesses in Zimbabwe can become better prepared for financing and investment. This study has received ethics clearance from Chinhoyi University of Technology (Research Ethics Clearance Letter, Annex 15, Form GRSD 17 SEBS/06/2025).

Your organisation has been selected to take part. If you agree, you will be asked to complete a questionnaire about your organisation (around 15-25 minutes), either yourself online, or with help from a researcher by phone or WhatsApp if you prefer.

Before contacting you, we may look up information about your organisation that is already publicly available — for example from official registers, published reports, or reputable news sources — so that we do not ask you for facts that are already on record. Where we have done this, you will be shown what we found and asked to confirm or correct it. You can also tell us you do not know, that you would rather not say, or skip this step altogether. It is there to save you time, not to test you. What you tell us is always recorded separately from what we found, and your own answers take precedence over it.

Taking part is voluntary. You can decline, or stop at any time, without any consequence. Your answers are used for research purposes only — no score, rating, or financing decision is generated or shown to you, and your individual answers will never be shared with any lender or financial institution.

Your name and contact details are kept separately from your answers and are only used to manage your participation in this study (for example, to send a reminder or arrange a call). Only the research team can see this information. Results will only ever be reported in combined, anonymised form.

If you have any questions, you can contact the research team: Happyson Saina, phone 0773943709, email abffstresearchcut@gmail.com. The same details are also included in your invitation message.

Step 5 — Give your decision

- Tap I agree to take part if you are happy to continue.
- Tap I do not wish to take part if you would rather not. That is completely fine, and nobody will pressure you.
- Tap Re-read the participant information to look at it again first.

Step 6 — Check what we already know (only if shown)

To save you time, the research team may have looked up information about your organisation that is already public, such as registry records or published reports. An AI tool from a company outside Zimbabwe helps with that search: it is given your organisation's details and your name and job title, never your phone number, email address or anything you tell us in the questionnaire or an interview, and a member of the research team checks everything it finds. If so, a screen called Before we continue shows each item. For each one you can choose Yes, correct, Partly correct, No — correct it (and type the right answer), Don't know, Prefer not to say or Not applicable. You can also skip this step. Your own answers always take precedence.

Step 7 — Choose how you would like to take part

Option	What happens next
Complete it myself now	You fill in the questionnaire online at your own pace (about 15–25 minutes).
Have a researcher call me	You choose a convenient date and time, and a researcher calls to go through it with you.
Complete it via WhatsApp	A researcher guides you through it over a WhatsApp call.
Ask someone to contact me another way	The team gets in touch to find a way that works for you.

Step 9 — Finished

A thank-you screen confirms you have finished. You will not see any score or result, because the study does not produce one.

4. Reminders

If you have not yet taken part, you may receive up to two short reminders by WhatsApp (around two days and seven days after your invitation). They simply ask you to use the link you were sent. If you do not wish to take part, just tell the research team and the reminders will stop.

5. Your rights and your information

- You may decline or stop at any time, without giving a reason and without any consequence.
- You may withdraw after taking part by contacting the research team. Your link and reminders will be stopped and your contact details erased from the study system.
- Your contact details are seen only by the research team and used only to manage your participation.
- Your answers are stored securely, used for research purposes only, and reported only in combined, anonymised form.
- No score, rating or financing decision is generated, and your individual answers are never given to lenders or financial institutions.
- You may ask for a copy of your completed questionnaire; the team can email it to the address they hold for you.
